
Ad Feminam

Atlantis sometimes receives statements of a more personal nature than the usual scholarly article. Recognizing that the “personal is political” and can service as prima materia for further research and study, AD FEMINAM is published on an occasional basis. We hope that such a section will stimulate debate and discussion and we invite responses from our readers.