

Contributors

Kay Armatage is a specialist in cinema and women's literature and teaches at New College, University of Toronto.

Patricia Chuchryk is a graduate student in the Department of Sociology and Social Studies at the University of Regina.

Constance A. Chapman works for the municipality of Metropolitan Toronto in the Department of Social Services.

Sylvie-anne DeLaLune is a poet and artist currently writing and drawing in Sault Ste. Marie.

Margrit Eichler is a Professor in the Department of Sociology of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education and a co-editor of the Canadian Newsletter of Research on Women.

Patricia Renée Ewing is a poet living in Montreal.

Lois Gottlieb and Wendy Keitner are Assistant Professors in the Department of English at the University of Guelph and are preparing an Annotated Bibliography of Canadian Women Writers of Fiction in English.

Laura Climenko Johnson is a Research Associate of the Social Planning Council of Metropolitan Toronto.

Alma Miller is a professor in the Department of Psychology at Acadia University.

David Monaghan is an Associate Professor of English at Mount Saint Vincent University, Halifax.

Wayne Roberts teaches History at McMaster University.

Marion V. Royce is associated with the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education.

Nancy Senior teaches French at the University of Saskatoon.

Susan Sherwin is a member of the Department of Philosophy, Dalhousie University.

Shirley Tillotson is a student and a writer who comes from Wolfville.

Susan Mann Trofimenkoff is Chairman of the Department of History, University of Ottawa.

Kathleen Tudor teaches English at St. Mary's University.

Barbara Wand is the Registrar of the Ontario Board of Examiners in Psychology.

Esther Clark Wright is a historian living in Wolfville.

Tova Yedlin is a professor in the Division of East European Studies of the University of Alberta and is presently completing a study on Soviet Women in the Stalin era.